1.0 Policy Objective

The objective of this Work From Home (WFH) Policy is to establish clear guidelines and standards for employees working from home, ensuring productivity, accountability, data security, and operational continuity. This policy provides Management with the flexibility to implement work-from-home arrangements where appropriate, in compliance with Company standards and applicable labor laws. This policy also defines how WFH arrangements are to be implemented and managed when approved.

2.0 Scope and Coverage

This policy applies to all employees of Oak Drive Ventures, Inc.

3.0 Procedures and Guidelines

The Company operates primarily through on-site work arrangements to support collaboration, supervision, and operational efficiency. All roles are assumed to be on-site unless formally approved otherwise.

3.1 Eligibility and Work Arrangements

Temporary WFH may be granted on an exception basis for short-term situations where on-site reporting is not feasible, provided that work continuity, productivity, and service delivery can be maintained. This may include, but is not limited to:

- Medical or health-related conditions
- Family or personal emergencies
- Transportation disruptions or severe weather conditions
- Government advisories affecting mobility
- Temporary limitations in office access

Guidelines and Conditions

- Requests must be submitted and approved at least a day before the scheduled WFH day to allow ample time for endorsements, except in cases of emergency where notification must be made as soon as reasonably possible.
- Approval is granted for a defined and limited period only.
- Temporary WFH does not establish eligibility for, nor convert into, a permanent or recurring WFH arrangement.
- Employees who are unwell or unable to perform their duties must file the appropriate leave (e.g., sick leave) and are not permitted to work.
- Management reserves the right to modify, suspend, or revoke the arrangement at any time based on operational requirements.

All WFH requests must be submitted via email to the immediate manager for approval. Approved requests must be copied to the COO/OIC for visibility and HR for documentation and review.

For Manager-level and above, requests require final approval from the COO or appointed OIC. HR will provide oversight to ensure consistency and compliance.

3.2 Work Standards and Work Expectations

Employees approved for WFH are required to maintain the same level of discipline, productivity, accountability, and professional conduct as required in an on-site work environment.

The Company reserves the right to modify, suspend, or revoke any work arrangement at any time based on:

- Operational requirements
- Changes in role responsibilities
- Performance concerns
- Non-compliance with policy standards

Work Hours and Timekeeping

The following guidelines define the standards for work hours, attendance, and timekeeping for employees under any work arrangement:

- a. Employees must strictly observe their approved work schedule and must be present, ready, and actively working during designated working hours. Any deviation must be approved in advance.
- b. All working hours must be accurately recorded using the official timekeeping system. Employees are responsible for ensuring that their log-in and log-out entries are complete, accurate, and submitted on time. Inaccurate, late, or incomplete entries shall not be recognized.
- c. Standard working hours are from 9:00 AM to 6:00 PM, unless otherwise approved. Employees must log in and log out accordingly and remain productive throughout the entire work period.
- d. Shortened working hours observed on Fridays (9:00 am to 5:00 pm) are not applicable to employees under work-from-home arrangements, unless otherwise expressly approved.

WFH does not modify attendance, leave, or overtime policies. All procedures must continue to be followed, and violations shall be subject to disciplinary action.

Employees on approved sick leave are strictly prohibited from performing any work-related duties.

Availability and Responsiveness

Employees are expected to respond within a reasonable timeframe (generally within 30 minutes). Extended non-responsiveness (e.g., exceeding one hour without valid reason) may be treated as an attendance or performance concern.

Employees must attend scheduled meetings and ensure that all required tools and equipment are functional. Any anticipated unavailability must be communicated in advance and properly recorded.

Operational Readiness and Connectivity

Employees must maintain a professional, secure, and distraction-free work environment that supports productivity and compliance with company policies.

- a. Employees must maintain reliable internet connectivity, equipment, and power supply sufficient to support work requirements, including virtual meetings and system access.
- b. Employees are required to perform work from their declared home address as approved under the WFH arrangement. Working from public places, while traveling, or from any mobile or unsecured location is not permitted unless explicitly authorized by Management.
- c. Any change in work location must be disclosed and approved in advance. In emergency situations, employees must notify their supervisor as soon as reasonably possible.
- d. In the event of connectivity or power failure, employees must immediately inform their supervisor and take reasonable steps to resolve the issue. If unresolved within a reasonable time, the employee may be required to report on-site.
- e. Employees are expected to maintain contingency measures such as backup internet or other compliant work arrangements.

3.3 Roles and Responsibilities

Employees are responsible for maintaining productivity, availability, and compliance with all company policies while working remotely. They must safeguard company data, use approved tools, and perform work only from authorized locations.

Managers are responsible for determining eligibility, setting expectations, monitoring performance, and ensuring that team members remain accountable and compliant with this policy.

HR is responsible for providing oversight to ensure consistent and proper implementation of this policy across the organization. This includes reviewing work arrangement approvals for alignment with policy guidelines, maintaining documentation, monitoring trends and compliance, and advising Management and Department Managers on policy interpretation and application.

3.4 Approval, Review, and Revocation

All WFH arrangements must be approved by Management and properly documented, with HR providing oversight to ensure consistency and compliance.
